

A Better Way To Support Veterans 1st Draft Comments

The draft highlighted a high level of anomalies in the DVA system. It would be prudent to implement systems and procedures that would overcome these variances.

It would not be prudent to implement changes outlined in the 1st draft until the anomalies have been rectified. Failure to do this and progress with changes to the structure could create more problems.

At the end of the day it would be the veterans that suffer if there were issues.
